DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on January 16, 2004 has been entered.
2. The amendment filed November 26, 2003 has now been entered as requested on January 16, 2004. Claims 1, 4, 5, 7, 9, 10, and 14 have been amended. Claim 2 is canceled. New claims 17-23 have been added. Claims 1 and 3-23 are currently pending.
3. The rejection of claims 1 and 11 under 35 USC 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rogers (US 6,081,071) in view of Young et al. (US 6,489,719) previously set forth in paper no. 7 (mailed August 27, 2003), paragraph 6, is withdrawn.
4. The rejection of claim 3 under 35 USC 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rogers (US 6,081,071) in view of Young et al. (US 6,489,719) in further view of Bernius et al. (US 6,383,664) previously set forth in paper no. 7 (mailed August 27, 2003), paragraph 7, is withdrawn.

Claim Objections

5. Claims 6-12 are objected to because of the following informalities:
  - a. It is suggested the word "boned" in the last line of claim 6 be changed to "bonded".

b. In claim 12, it is suggested “absorption of moisture, oxygen, and impurities” be changed to “absorption of moisture, oxygen, or impurities”.

Appropriate correction or clarification is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

7. Claims 1, 3, 12, 13, 16-19, 22, and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yamazaki et al. (US 2002/0125817 A1). Yamazaki et al. discloses organic electroluminescent devices comprising a substrate such as glass (see par. 50), filler (710) added with a drying agent (709) (see par. 55) per the instant drying layer of adhesive and composite material, a sealing member (712) made of an ultraviolet ray curing resin (see Fig. 7 and par. 55) per instant claims 1, 3, 12, 13, and 19. The casing (713) and (711) reads upon the sealing case (see Figure 7). The filler material of the drying layer includes adhesive material such as epoxy resin (see par. 19). Per instant claim 16, the EL device is comprised of a cathode, light emitting region of organic compounds TPD and Alq and an anode (see par. 51 and 52) per instant claim 16. Yamazaki et al. is deemed to disclose all components of the listed claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1774

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claims 4, 5, 14, 15, 20, and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yamazaki et al. (US 2002/0125817 A1) in view of Nishio et al. (US 6624570). Yamazaki et al. teaches a drying layer comprising filler (per the adhesive) and drying material (per the composite material), but fails to teach specific compounds for use as the drying material. Nishio et al. teaches, in analogous art, CaO as a drying agent in adhesive material for use in an electroluminescent device (see col. 8, lines 12-13). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have selected calcium oxide (CaO) as the drying agent for the Yamazaki et al. drying material, because Nishio et al. teaches CaO is useful as a drying agent in a luminescent device and one would expect CaO to be similarly useful as the Yamazaki et al. drying material.

Allowable Subject Matter

10. Claims 6-11 contain allowable subject matter for the reasons previously recited in paper no. 5, paragraph 9. It is noted that claim 6 stands objected for containing a typographical error.

Response to Arguments

11. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1 and 3-23 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
